Erté
Died - 1990

Now here I have the famed "Erte", who was a French artist and designer in an array of fields, including fashion, jewellery, graphic arts, costume and set design for film, theatre, opera and interior decor. Over the course of his lifetime, he said that he had created over 17,000 artworks. He was from the Art Deco art movement

Stop with your complaining, we have a VISITOR!

Shut your WRETCHED mouth, you will be here for all eternity, and will never see your family again.

Munch was a Norwegian painter, whose best-known work, The Scream, has become one of the most iconic images of world art. His childhood was overshadowed by illness, bereavement and the dread of inheriting a mental condition that ran in the family. He was in the Expressionism art movement.

Let me out of this wretched place. I want to be with my family...

Edvard Munch
Died - 1944

I'm so HUNGRY... I haven't had sustenance in DECADES!

Umberto Boccioni
Died - 1916

Boccioni was an influential Italian painter and sculptor. He helped shape the revolutionary aesthetic of the Futurism movement as one of its principal figures. Despite his short life, his approach to the dynamism of form and the deconstruction of solid mass guided artists long after his death. He was in the Futurism art movement.

Quit your WHINING, you sound like a damn hysterical child.

Freedom is overrated,
so zip your PUTRID
mouth.

Duchamp has had an immense impact on twentieth-century and twenty first-century art, and he had a seminal influence on the development of conceptual art. He rejected the work of many of his fellow artists as "retinal" art, intended only to please the eye. Instead, Duchamp wanted to use art to serve the mind. He was part of the Dada art movement.

*I can't remember anything before being trapped here...
I wonder what it was like to be alive and free...*

Marcel Duchamp
Died - 1968

Oh thank God... outside... free us... help us. We are imprisoned against our will...

Pablo Picasso
Died - 1973

Picasso is probably the most important figure of 20th century, in terms of art. Before the age of 50, the Spanish born artist had become the most well known name in modern art, with the most distinct style and eye for artistic creation. There had been no other artists, prior to Picasso, who had such an impact on the art world, or had a mass following of fans and critics alike. He was in the cubist art movement.

Don't pay any attention to his maddened ramblings, he doesn't know what he's saying. His mind isn't what it once was.

SHUT YOU'RE GOD DAMN MOUTH OR I'LL HAVE TO REAQUAINT YOU WITH... sorry human, I should not have lost my temper.

Dali was a Spanish painter born in Figueres, Catalonia, Spain. Dali was a skilled draftsman, best known for the striking and bizarre images in his work. His painterly skills are often attributed to the influence of the Renaissance masters. He was in the Surrealism art movement

Don't trust this tyrannical deity... he TORTURES us behind closed doors...

Salvador Dalí
Died - 1989

Get out of here
while you still can... outsider...

Henry Moore
Died - 1986

Moore was an English artist. He is best known for his semi-abstract monumental bronze sculptures which are located around the world as public works of art. Moore's works are usually suggestive of the female body, apart from a phase in the 1950s when he sculpted family groups. His forms are generally pierced or contain hollow spaces. He was in the Modernism art movement.

Ah, nothing better than a nice cup of tea.

Ah yes Humphrey, of course I would like to come to your tea party on Wednesday.

Pollock was an American painter and a major figure in the art world. He was widely noticed for his technique of pouring or splashing liquid household paint onto a horizontal surface, enabling him to view and paint his canvases from all angles. He was in the Abstract Expressionism art movement.

The skeleton sometimes talks to imaginary people in his mind... he's DELUSIONAL and DANGEROUS... do not trust him... outsider...

Jackson Pollock
Died - 1959

I hate tomato soup... it's all I've eaten for decades... please... no more...

Andy Warhol
Died - 1987

Warhol was an American artist, director and producer. His works explore the relationship between artistic expression, advertising, and celebrity culture and span a variety of media, including painting, silkscreening, photography, film and sculpture. He was in the Pop Art movement.

EAT YOUR FUCKING SOUP WARHOL! Be thankful, the others would kill to have just a drop of that soup.

If you continue with your creepy shenanigans, I'll have to lock you in the BASEMENT again!

Rauschenberg was an American painter and graphic artist whose early works anticipated the pop art movement. Rauschenberg is well known for his "combines" of the 1950s, in which non-traditional materials and objects were employed in various combinations. He was in the Post-Modernism art movement.

I haven't seen a living being in so long... you're so fleshy... so soft... oh how I crave your muscles and fresh skin...

Robert Rauschenberg
Died - 2008

Mat Collishaw Still Alive...

Collishaw makes work that envelops the viewer in a twilight world poised between the alluring and the revolting, the familiar and the shocking, the poetic and the morbid. With a visual language that embraces diverse media, the beauty of Collishaw's work is compelling - seductive, captivating, hypnotic - yet repelling as we perceive the darker fantasies within. A repulsion triggered not by what we see, but by our innate response to it. Something between beautiful and abject. He is currently in the YBA art movement.
